ANNUAL MEETING.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Historical and Scientific Society of Manitoba was held on the 13th day of February, 1894, in the city council chamber, Winnipeg.

Rev. Prof. Baird, the President, called upon His Honor, Lieutenant-Governor Schultz, to read a paper upon "A Forgotten Northern Fortress," and, at the conclusion of His Honor's paper, the Rev. Dr. Bryce moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Lieutenant-Governor for his interesting address, and also for the donations made therewith to the archives of the Society. Mr. C. N. Bell cordially seconded the motion, and Prof. Baird thanked His Honor on behalf of the members.

The Rev. Dr. Bryce read a paper upon "The Early Days of Winnipeg," and, after the thanks of the Society were duly conveyed to the learned Doctor, the Annual Report of the Executive Council was presented to the Society and adopted. It was as follows:—

The Society cannot express great satisfaction in the quantity of original work performed during the last year by its members. In fact the number of papers read has been less than during any like period in the Society's history.

For many years there had been a desire on the part of the Society to preserve Old Fort Garry. Finally the Society, during the past year, endeavoured to carry out this object.

The Fort was built by Governor Christie in 1835. It was 240 feet long from north to south, and 280 feet wide. After its erection it became the home of the Council of Assiniboia, from the time of the organization of the Council in 1835 until the rebellion of 1869.

"Many a stormy scene, historic in the annals of this country, took place under its walls. The wild fury of the half-breeds at the trial of Sayer, in 1849, the rebellion of Riel, in 1869, and the mad execution of Scott just outside its walls, the removal of the wounded man to the south-west bastion, and thence in secret to an unknown grave. These were some of the stormy scenes of which it was the silent witness. Then, again, many distinguished guests, of names famous in the old mother land, were entertained in a royal manner by the worthy occupants of the Fort."

To preserve the last remnants of the old gateway from total destruction the Society engaged the services of an architect and engineer, and had an estimate made of the cost entailed in its preservation. This was done with a view of enlisting the sympathies of the public, so as to enable a popular subscription to be taken up to preserve it. The newspapers joined in the effort, but there was no popular response, and the Society felt that it would cripple its efforts in other lines of work if its funds, to the extent of $2,000 or $3,000, were devoted to this one object.

Finally, after much regret, the effort was seen to be of no avail, and now the scene of many an old-time conference of the fathers of this land, and of many an historic meeting, has been left to crumble into ruins.

MUSEUM.

The Society's Museum is gradually increasing. Many donations have been made during the past year, and out of its possessions it assisted largely in the success of the Manitoba Exhibit at the World's Fair, Chicago. It has loaned to the Provincial Government the musk-ox skeleton, donated to the Society some years ago, a skeleton exceedingly well mounted by Ward, of Rochester.

MEMBERS.

Mr. Archer Martin, the first Vice-President, is now resident in Victoria, B.C., and is a corresponding member. The corresponding secretary, Mr. K. H. Fessenden, has removed from the City.

By death, however, the most severe loss that has been suffered for years fell upon the Society during the past summer.

"The Five Forts of Winnipeg. Transac. Royal Society of Canada, Sec. II., Cap. VIII. Rev. George Bryce, I.L.D."

First His Honor W. D. Ardagh, Judge of the County Court of Winnipeg, returning after a holiday to his judicial labors, died, April 16, 1893, of heart disease on landing from a Mediterranean steamer in New York.

He was born in Tipperary, Ireland, March 21, 1828, came to Canada, 1848, called to the bar of Ontario, 1855, was prominent in the political and social life of the Colony, came to Manitoba and was Deputy-Attorney-General, became Judge of the Eastern Judicial District for the Province of Manitoba in 1883, was a member of the Society and office bearer from 1883 until his death.

Among the members of the bar he was noted for his industry and integrity. He never hesitated to avoid enmity or hostile criticism by doing what he considered a just act. His kindness to the student was proverbial. As a member of the Library Committee for many years he rendered very valuable service in the selection of books, and in every way in his power assisted in carrying on the various departments of the Society's work.

On April 28th, 1893, one of the charter members of the Society died in Winnipeg, aged 73. The Honorable J. W. Taylor, U. S. Consul at Winnipeg, had always taken a very active part in the work of the Society. To him especially the Society is indebted for the present collection of publications of the United States Government.

Mr. Taylor was born in the State of New York, was called to the New York Bar, practiced his profession in Cincinnati, in 1852 entered journalism, became a Member of the Ohio Constitutional Convention of 1849, State Librarian, Ohio, 1852, published "History of the State of Ohio, first period, 1650—1787," removed to St. Paul, 1856, visited Fort Garry for the first time in 1859, Agent of the United States Treasury Department, and then Consul at Fort Garry, 1870. In 1871 succeeded in getting the United States Government to check the filibustering "Gen." O'Neil and some of his sympathisers at the International Boundary at Fort Pembina, and in 1885 again interested the United States Government in preventing communication between rebels in Saskatchewan and their friends in Montana.

For his vigorous advocacy of the merits of this North-western country he was called "Saskatchewan Taylor," a title that did not seem to be a source of annoyance to him. His latest vision was The A. B. C. Railway—The Alaska and British Columbia Railway. The zeal with which he advocated the interests of his "other country" was only limited by the duties he owed to his own.

Although he never wrote or published a paper under the Society's auspices, he added much to the value of the papers read by an eloquent comment from the richness of his own mental store.

Among the old people of this country, "the Puritans of this land," as he affectionately used to style them, he was loved and esteemed. They all knew him, and to the home of each one he was always a welcome guest.

Death also fell heavily among the corresponding members. Early in the year Dr. John Rae, the well known Arctic explorer, died. He lectured before the Society on the 14th day of October, 1882, upon The Arctic Regions and Hudson's Bay Route. His death occurred 22nd July, 1893.

Francis Parkman, the well known historian, was also a corresponding member. He died 8th November, 1893.

The third among the list of deaths of corresponding members was John Robert Spencer, who died in Winnipeg, November 11th, 1893. He was born in Montreal, April 17th, 1831, came to Rupert's Land in 1869, and shortly after went to York Factory where he held the position of second in charge of that post untill 1873. In the latter year he was appointed master of Fort Churchill. In 1888 he was in charge of York Factory returning to Churchill the following year where he remained in charge till July, 1893, when he left on a furlough. He had been ill for some time and died a few weeks after reaching Winnipeg.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Report of the Library Committee.

Your Library Committee has to report that, like the other departments of the Society's work, it has during the year felt the paralyzing influence of cramped quarters, which have rendered impossible the realization of some of its aims and surrounded others with such difficulties as to discourage any attempt to realize them.

Next to the want of enlarged quarters one of the most pressing necessities of the Library is a better arrangement and classification of the reference books. The matter was repeatedly discussed by several members of the council, who are specialists in the lines of work in which the Society is collecting books, and who offered their services with the prospect of spending considerable time in the work of cataloguing; but what can be done when, after all the trouble was undertaken, there are no shelves for the books, and they can only be piled on the floor?

The additions made, since the last report, to the Society's list of North West books include several valuable items. Among them are Père Petitot's geographical, linguistic and ethnological studies of the McKenzie River Indians and their country, in thirteen volumes, purchased from Dufossé, of Paris; the recent reprint of Lewis and Clark's journey across the continent; a complete set of the Statutes of Manitoba; and a number of minor works now out of print and very difficult to get. In addition to the volumes secured by purchase, the usual series of exchanges have been received and some of the Society's friends have contributed to its archives rare pamphlets and maps. Conspicuous among these stands the name of Archer Martin, Esq., late first vice-president of the Society. A large free hand crayon portrait of the first Recorder of Rupert's Land, Adam Thom, has been added to the slowly increasing picture gallery connected with the early history of the country.

All which is respectfully submitted.
